Introduction

Project Black Prism is a project seeking the expansion of the Hellios Discord Server. As of 2018-12-05 the server contains 39 Helliosians, this include 6 unique Imperators (server moderator).

From the beginning of this server (July 21, 2017) until now, the main method to invite Helliosians was manual selection of users while browsing Reddit. Selected user would then receive this private message:

[Object:]A special Invitation

Hello, you have been invited to join the Discord server Hellios. This server is a place for mature and undisrupted discussion, only a few selected individuals like you have been invited. If you are interested, follow this link: [Server invite link]

You can also consult the full invite list [here](link to a Pastebin/Hastebin sheet).

The following was sent to at least 258 unique Reddit users (stat from 2018-11-21). Since there is currently 38 Helliosians, this mean that only 14.7% of those invited remained.

We are now looking for new Helliosians to invite the server. During a private conversation with an Imperator, we decided that it would preferable to look onto non 'mainstream' websites.

Invitation Protocol and Reasoning

We are naturally looking for intellectuals, internet surfers that can think critically or in simpler terms, do not just "consume entertainment". In the aforementioned private discussion on Discord we agreed that we should target people who "contribute to society". In this context it signifies content creator (or distributor) that use methods that require critical thinking and logic to achieve the result.

Example:

[User] post X 3D model on Y website. X model is a rip (meaning extracted from) of Z game. This mean [User] had to decompile game Z then find a way to extract/convert X model to normal standard then post it on Y website.

Of course, there is a lot of factor in the previous example that determinate the level of complexity of the task but generally it is not a very simple process.

The List

The list can be found here:

The invite link will inevitably change after each revision.

I will personally keep archived version on my hard drive, I will check for an online solution latter.

Specifications and Platforms

1. www.vg-resource.com and sub-domains

The VG Resource is a website that is a repertory of commercial video game assets where user can upload their rips. It qualifies for the reasons mentioned above. Every user who had at least 50 contributions was systematically put on the list.

Status: Awaiting Helliosian Approval

The others option will be discussed internally within the server before consideration.
